LOWDEN KEPT POLITICS OUT OF FARM MEET

Prevents Song Lauding Him as "President" in Farmers' Vote

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden stopped the singing of a song by Illinois farmers here today in which they had prepared to greet him as their choice for president. "If we had our say," Lowden and officials of the Illinois Agricultural Association agreed it was best to keep politics out of the farm problem.

Resolutions were prepared for presentation in convention this afternoon touching five major subjects. One resolution strongly reaffirmed the farmers' stand for the farm export corporation; another proposed a gasoline tax for Illinois in lieu of some kind of present property tax; the third approved the proposed revenue amendment to the state constitution; another urged resumption of tuberculosis testing in Illinois and a fifth supported water legislation, both the Illinois Deep Water Way and the St. Lawrence project.

B. B. League Elects
Farm bureau baseball representatives from twenty counties held their annual election, renaming George R. Cline of Virginia, state president, and renaming Vice President Stempel of Woodford County. George E. Metzger of Chicago was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Metzger assured the delegates that the farm bureau league would spread to several other counties this year. Only farm bureau members and their sons are eligible for teams. Games are played in and between counties on Saturday afternoons, and the state championship is determined at a game played at the farmer state picnic.

This is the only farm bureau baseball league in the country. Counties composing it were Carroll, Mercer, Warren, Henderson, Knox, Stark, Woodford, Peoria, Mason, Menard, Logan, Cass, Schuyler, Brown, Adams, Morgan, Marshall, Putnam and Tazewell. Last year's champion was Carroll.

Two Seek Leadership
A democrat and a republican were the leading contenders for the place of President Sam H. Thompson today. Earl C. Smith, 40, republican, of Detroit in Pike county, seemed to be leading Frank D. Barton, 54, democrat of Cornell in Livingston county. They are both members of the executive committee, dirt farmers and prominent church men in their own communities.

There was talk this morning however of a "black horse" in the running; and the name of Joe Fulkerson, the "toastmaster" at last night's annual banquet was quietly mentioned as the "horse." He is not an avowed candidate and it was not definitely known that he would accept the nomination.

District committeemen for seven congressional districts were nominated in district meetings late yesterday and will be elected today. These elections will name successors to G. F. Tullock, Rockford; William H. Moody, Port Byron; A. R. Wright, Varna; R. F. Karr, Iroquois; Earl C. Smith, Detroit; Stanley Castle, Alton; and Curt Anderson, Xenia.

Two Babes, Christened at Ceremony in Dixon

Annette Patricia Christos, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Christos, and James F. Doulos, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doulos were both christened last evening at a christening at the home, 124 First street. Rev. Father John Panos of the Orthodox Greek church of Moline, performed the ceremony in the presence of about fifty relatives and a few friends. The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, roses and carnations, and a bountiful supper was served and a decidedly enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Concert Set for Tonight Postponed Until March

The Dixon Civic Music Association announces that the concert to have been given this evening in the Family Theater, with Miss Gladys Swarthout, Chicago Civic Opera star as the attraction, is postponed until March, because of the illness of Miss Swarthout.

Cairo Man Declares He Saw Meteor, Too, Tuesday

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—The theory that a meteor seen Tuesday to the south of Peoria and Decatur fell in Illinois is borne out by the statement of a Cairo man who today related that he saw a meteor about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, north of Cairo and traveling in a westerly direction.

MOVE TO END DEBATE ON WORLD COURT

Present Cold Wave to Last Until First of Week, Says Official Weather Forecaster

Old Boreas Stages His Mercury-Vanishing Act With Vigor

Twelve Below Zero is Low Mark in this City

The return of winter to this section on the heels of a strong wind which swept out the northwest Thursday and Thursday night, drove the mercury in the government thermometer at the Shuck & Bates grocery on Lincoln Way, down to 12 degrees below zero.

Little relief from the cold wave before Monday is promised by the forecasters.

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Old Boreas, juggler of temperatures, did his famous mercury vanishing act today and as a result, the northern section of the country from the Rockies east to the Ohio read the thermometer in terms of minus, or near it. The Atlantic seaboard is the next locale for the chilling spectacle, forecasters said.

Lochinvar-like, from out of the west he came: As reports went eastward of 14 below temperatures in Colorado and Wyoming, the cold wave area spread its borders. Blooming pussy willows in Montana had an icy shroud and other northwest points icy for the doubtful honor of being the coldest spot in the country. Hibbing, Minn., registered 26 below, just four degrees warmer than The Pas, Manitoba, where icy blasts swept to the southwest.

No Relief This Week

Storm warnings were displayed in the Great Lakes territory and there was no promise of relief this week. Shippers were warned to protect perishable commodities against 20 below cold in the north and northwest, 15 below in the west and 10 below in the south. Zero was the minimum to be anticipated in the east. The southwest was not exempt. Snow and freezing temperatures were the lot of southwestern Texas, El Paso and the Pan Handle. Near zero and a few degrees below were forecast for the corn and wheat states. Not much snow was expected.

Chicago carefully watched the mercury drop 32 degrees in 24 hours and heard the baleful warning of further drops to six or seven below by tomorrow morning. About Monday, observers said, some relief would come. Sixteen states will be in the cold wave roster by tonight, forecasters indicated.

Cardinal Mercier Was Considerably Worse Today

Brussels, Jan. 22—(AP)—Cardinal Mercier is sinking rapidly, says a bulletin issued by his doctors at 6:30 o'clock tonight and the end is not far away.

Brussels, Jan. 22—(AP)—Cardinal Mercier was "considerably worse" today, members of his entourage announced.

MODERN WOODMEN, ROYAL NEIGHBORS SEATED OFFICERS

Over 200 Attend the Joint Installation Here Last Evening

Last evening Union hall was filled to overflowing, extra chair being used to accommodate the large crowd that attended the joint installation of the Modern Woodmen of America, Camp No. 56, and Rock River Camp No. 127, Royal Neighbors of America. The Woodmen installed officers first, the installing council being C. W. Crum, Consul of Franklin Grove Camp, being assisted by installing escort W. C. Dysart and the Foresters Team also of the Franklin Grove Camp. The following officers were installed:

Past Consul—James Quadlin.
Consul—Ira W. Lewis.
Advisor—Barney Bush.
Banker—Walter W. Brown.
Clerk—J. A. Daunter.

Escort—Ephraim Horner.
Watchman—Titus Reynolds.
Sentry—J. Poffenberger.

Manager—J. M. McCherry.

After the officers were installed the newly elected Consul presented the installing Consul and installing escort with gifts and thanked the members of the Franklin Grove lodge for their assistance. Retiring Clerk, F. D. Palmer then in a neat speech presented the retiring Consul, James Quadlin, who just closed his eighth year as Consul, with a gift from the lodge. Mr. Quadlin in a few words thanked the lodge for the remembrance. Waldo Ward then in his acceptable manner presented a gift from the lodge to retiring Clerk F. D. Palmer who is retiring after fourteen years service in that position. Mr. Palmer also thanked the lodge for the courtesy and also for the many favors shown him during his term of office.

New R. N. A. Officers

Following the Woodmen installation the Royal Neighbors installed officers. Mrs. John Peterson acting as installing officer and Mrs. Sam Mall as Ceremonial Marshal, being assisted by the degree team of Dixon lodge. The following officers were installed: Oracle—Marie Wadzinski.
Past Oracle—Kathryn Goodwin.
Vice Oracle—Minnie Miller.
Chancellor—Edith Barnhart.
Recorder—Maude Hobbs.
Receiver—Ellen Peterson.
Marshal—Blanche Dunn.
Assistant Marshal—Dora Fruin.
Inner Sentinel—Helen Perry.
Outer Sentinel—Ella Heffey.
Manager—Walter Brown.
Musician—Lillian Wolber.

The newly elected Oracle presented gifts to the installing officers and the musician for their work. An exhibition drill was given by the Royal Neighbors drill team and also by the Foresters team from the Franklin Grove Woodmen lodge.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the social committee to the two hundred guests present.

Man and Estranged Wife Found Dead in Candy Store

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—John Beard, 60, and his estranged wife, Katherine, 42, were found dead today in their confectionery store. Evidently Beard had shot his wife in the heart and then killed himself.

Mrs. Beard had operated the store alone since recently suing for divorce. Her husband had been enjoined from entering.

Beard was a former deputy sheriff and was three times candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff of St. Clair county.

Dynamiter and Slayer is Given Life Imprisonment

Racine, Wis., Jan. 22—(AP)—Richard Righan, 26, confessed dynamiter and slayer, arrested for sniping at North Shore Passenger trains, today was sentenced to life imprisonment at Waupun following a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder in connection with the bombing of a lunch car last November which resulted in the death of Stanley Packmore, a night cook. He was immediately taken to the state penitentiary.

Former Dixon Man is Dead in Akron, Ohio

Dixon relatives this morning received news of the death of Simon O'Neil who passed away at his home at Akron, Ohio. Mr. O'Neil was a former resident of this city.

LEADER OF DEMOCRATS AWAKENED

Serves Notice Senate Must Reach Pact to Vote Soon

Every Resident of Prairie City "Anti"

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—A petition signed by practically every resident of Prairie City near here, protesting against the entry of the United States into the world court or League of Nations, and urging a law requiring registration of all aliens and deportation of aliens convicted of a crime against the laws of the United States, has been sent to Illinois congressmen.

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—Unless an agreement is reached to vote on the world court by tomorrow, the rule for limiting debate will be invoked, Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, said today after a conference with other democrats.

The burden of the fight against the court was taken up first today by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, who held the floor for one of the longest speeches of his senate career, while Senator Reed, democrat of Missouri, Senator McLean, republican of North Dakota and others were marshalling data with which to continue the battle later in the day.

Mrs. Wilson Hears Talk

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war president, listened to the debate from a place in the senate gallery.

Both factions desire early action on the tax measure but proponents of the tribunal are unwilling to give it priority on the calendar at the expense of indefinite delay in reaching a decision on the protocol as desired by court opponents.

Triangles All Set to Meet Sterling Quintet

Tomorrow night on the "Y" floor the Dixon Triangles will meet the team from Sterling, composed of former high school stars, but having no team name. This is expected to be an easy victory for the Triangles and should act as a balm to the severe trimming given them by Elgin at Elgin Wednesday night.

Dixon is blest with plenty of clever basketball material. Three nights a week between twenty and thirty of these young men meet on the "Y" floor for regular practice between the hours of 8 and 9:30. From this group it is possible to pick enough clever players to give basket ball fans a very enjoyable evening. Admission is not charged at practice sessions and visitors are welcome. For the regular scheduled games small admission is charged. The game Saturday night will be called at 8:15.

Birthdays of Three Daughters Celebrated

Thursday evening a birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Stewart of West Sixth street, in honor of the birthdays of their three young daughters, Jamsey Stewart, who was 11 Thursday; Anna B. who was 10 years old in November and Mary F., who was 9 years old in December. There were twenty little guests. A tempting luncheon of fruit salad, sandwiches, cake and ice cream was served to the youngsters. A happy time was enjoyed by all present and the hostesses were wished many such merry birthdays.

House Approved Reduction of Navy Force 4,000 Men

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—The house today approved a section of the navy department bill providing for a reduction by 4,000 men of the navy's present authorized enlisted strength of 85,600 men.

Boys Admit Setting Fire to Benton Church on Dare

Benton, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Willie Magee and Johnny Hunt, both 20 years old, were in jail today after confessing they had set fire to the Christian Church at Mulkey Town, near here, on a dare.

Fined by Justice Gannon Today for Intoxication

Frank Rock was fined $10 and costs by Justice Martin J. Gannon in police court this morning on a charge of being intoxicated.

More Old Coins are "Dug Up" by People of Dixon This Morn

Publication of an Associated Press dispatch early this week concerning an old half dollar has caused Dixonites to dig up their old coins, and three more decidedly ancient coins were reported to The Telegraph this morning. John Lowrey, former conductor on the S. D. & E., reports possession of a half dollar coined in 1814, making it 111 years old; and Harry Lome, caller at this office and displayed a similar coin which was minted in 1822, 103 years old. Ben McWilliams phoned The Telegraph that he is the owner of a United States silver dollar coined in 1800.

PAPER'S EFFORT TO END STRIKE IN EAST FAILS

Operators Refuse to Accept Plan Which Miners Favored

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26—(AP)—The latest effort to end the coal strike has apparently failed.

Anthraxite mine operators made known here today that they will not accept negotiations with the miners to end the long suspension on the basis of the plan proposed by the Scranton Times.

President John L. Lewis of the miners union, announced earlier in the day at Scranton that he was willing to again go into conference on the basis of the latest proposal with certain suggestions to make.

Lewis' statement in accepting the plan addressed to Mr. Lynett follows: "I regret that public and private engagements, distant from the locality of Scranton, have delayed reply to the request of the Scranton Times for comment upon the suggested plan of settlement of the anthracite controversy, published in your issue of January 18.

"The representatives of the mine workers understood, from interpretations appearing in the Times' editorial columns, that the plan is the basis for renewed negotiations and that the fourth paragraph is intended as an alternative for arbitration.

"The mine workers appreciate the fine spirit of public service which motivates your own actions in the premises and we find ourselves in complete accord with your purpose."

Youth Claims He Doesn't Remember Assaulting Girl

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Herman Groezinger, 22, was arrested at the state hospital for the insane at Elgin yesterday and brought to Aurora on a charge of having hit Cecil Jacobs, a high school girl, over the head with a vase. Groezinger stabbed himself after attacking the girl.

He was removed from an Aurora hospital to the asylum on a temporary commitment, at the request of the hospital.

The attack on the girl was made at the home of one of the girl's friends where she and Groezinger were among a number of guests. The youth says he has no recollection of the assault or the attempt upon his own life.

Former Attorney General Arraigned for Contempt

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, was arraigned before Federal Judge Thacher today for failure to answer questions and to produce records under subpoena in the recent investigation concerning the American Metal Company.

Mr. Daugherty was cited by a federal jury "for punishment for contempt" of "for instructions by the court that he comply with the subpoena.

CAPITAL'S UNION STATION

Springfield—The Unification of Railroads committee of the local chamber of commerce which is endeavoring to secure a union station for Springfield will meet with railroad representatives tonight.

Women Will Have Important Parts in the Prosecution and Defense of Murderer Durkin

TENTH ATTACK ON WOMEN OF TOLEDO THURSDAY NIGHT

Girl Followed by Youth and Assaulted Near Her Residence

Toledo, O., Jan. 22—(AP)—The second attack on a woman this week and the tenth in recent months occurred at midnight when Miss Dorothy Horton, 29, was beaten unconscious by a youth in front of her home.

The man had followed her from a show, seizing her from behind and striking her with his fist. Screaming for help the young woman fought back but was knocked unconscious just as her father came to her aid. He pursued the man, but was outdistanced.

Authorities were inclined to believe that this latest attack had no connection with other recent assaults in which a club apparently was used as a weapon.

The attack came while police still were attempting to solve the slaying of Miss Mary Handley, 44, whose body was found in the rear of a yard next to her home earlier in the week. Her head had been crushed by heavy blows. Her attacker had gagged his victim with her own torn clothing. Miss Handley was the third woman to be killed.

SOCIETY WOMAN ATTACKED

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 22—(AP)—Mrs. James R. Pfeil, society woman, fought off an assailant last night who seized her as she was returning to her home in a fashionable district.

The attack, the sixth this week, was the first reported in the so-called Gold Coast section of Milwaukee.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE GAVE TAX BILL REPORT

Defends Proposed Repeal of Inheritance Tax Details

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—The report of the senate finance committee on the tax reduction bill as submitted to the senate today by Chairman Smoot, defended repeal of the inheritance tax on the ground that the field of taxation should be left entirely to states, except in emergencies.

Only the ten republican members of the committee signed the report. Senators King of Utah, and Jones of New Mexico, democrats, have indicated they would file separate reports, but the other democrats on the committee have indicated agreement with most of the features of the bill.

Further discussing its proposed repeal of the inheritance tax, against which a stubborn fight is in prospect, the committee majority declared adoption by the house of a provision allowing 80 per cent credit for payment of state inheritance taxes constituted an admission that only 20 per cent of the federal levy was needed.

The report said the committee was unanimous for reduction of the maximum rate from 40 to 20 per cent as approved by the house. This figure was described as "the lowest practicable rate" and the report added:

"The committee has not approached the matter from the standpoint of benefiting the extremely wealthy."

Commenting on the committee's decision to increase the corporation tax as an offset to repeal of the capital stock levy, the report promised "a thorough study of their situation through the joint committee proposed by the bill in the hope that some method will be devised later whereby inequalities between the different business methods may be obviated."

Repeal of the provision for publicity of income tax returns was dismissed with the comment that the committee "has no evidence before it of any useful purpose served" by the publicity provision.

PLAN G. A. R. MEETING

Springfield—Arrangements for the state encampment of the G. A. R. were made at a meeting here today of state officials.

BROTHERS OF MRS. DURKIN WORKING HERE

Employed on Erection of New I. N. U. Power Plant Here

News of the capture of Martin Durkin, arch gunman in Chicago, has held the attention of the entire country since Wednesday. Today, Durkin's connections reached Dixon, where it was said that three of his relatives live. Two brothers-in-law and a sister-in-law are said to be making their home here, having come to Dixon less than a month ago. They are brothers and sister of 18-year-old Irma Sullivan of Cornell, Ill. Durkin's bride of a few weeks before his capture near St. Louis.

Newspaper reports of the slayer's connections last evening listed Roy and Ted Sullivan and Mrs. Edith Gorman of Dixon, Ill., as being members of Durkin's wife's family. An investigation this morning disclosed the fact that Roy Sullivan is employed by the Bates-Rogers Construction company as carpenter in the erection of the new Illinois Northern Utilities company steam plant at the foot of College avenue. Ted Sullivan, a brother, came to Dixon about the same time and is employed as a laborer at the west end improvement.

ARRAIGNMENT DELAYED

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Durkin's formal plea to two murder indictments was postponed for one week when he was brought into the criminal court today. His attorney represented that he did not know whether he would be retained for the trial. Before the formal arraignment prosecution and defense agreed to the week's postponement.

Today's proceeding meant that it will be possibly several weeks before Durkin faces the state's demand that he pay for one of the slayings by death on the gallows.

The law provides that at least thirty days must elapse between arraignment and trial, putting Durkin's first trial five weeks off without other postponements.

Death Came to Mrs. H. J. Schumacker at Her Home Last Eve

Mrs. Herbert J. Schumacker passed away at her home, 310 Grant avenue, last evening at 8:30 after an illness of several days duration. Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and at the Grand Detour church at 2:30. Rev. B. H. Cleaver, pastor of the Christian church officiating and with interment in the Grand Detour cemetery.

Tillie Floy Nettie was born in Chana, Ohio county, Jan. 20, 1894 and had resided in Grand Detour for several years. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, her mother and two brothers.

Bonds of Three Peoria Women Forfeited Today

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Forfeiting cash bonds totalling $9,000 when they failed to appear in circuit court here this morning for arraignment, three Peoria women accused of fur thefts amounting to $4,000 here two months ago, became fugitives from justice. An order was issued for the arrest of the women, Mrs. Emma Franklin, Mrs. Lee Harris and Mrs. Sarah Golden, on each of three indictments charging them with robbing three Quincy stores of furs.

A capias was also issued for L. Hudson, alias J. Taylor, believed to have been an accomplice. Hudson escaped when the women were captured. The bonds of $3,000 for each of the women were furnished by friends in Chicago and placed in a bank here.

Spanish Aviators Jumped Off on Way to Americas

Palos, Spain, Jan. 22—(AP)—Three Spanish aviators started this morning on the first leg of a seaplane flight for Buenos Aires, and possibly New York. The first stop will be Las Palmas, Canary Islands. The aviators are Commander Ramon Franco, Captain Ruiz de Alva, and Eugenio Duran. The distance to Buenos Aires and New York is 12,300 miles.

Dixon Knights Templar Attend Chicago Meeting

Commander Z. W. Moss of Dixon Commandery, No. 21, Knights Templar, and several of the officers and Sir Knights left at noon today for Chicago, where this evening they will attend the annual inspection of Columbia Commandery. The inspection will be conducted by Deputy Grand Commander Glenn F. Coe of this city.

Mother Plans Defense; State May Use Wife Against Him

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Women in the life of Martin James Durkin, auto thief and gun man, may take leading parts in the effort of the state to send him to the gallows on indictments charging the killing of two detectives.

While his mother, Hattie, leads the defense, the prosecution hopes to use as its witnesses his 14 year old blonde bride of seven weeks, Irma Sullivan Durkin, and Betty Werner, his former sweetheart. It was Betty he flitted after an escape from a police trap into which he walked to get clothing for her baby.

An indication that Betty might turn against him came when she refused to leave the custody of the state's attorney after the filing of a habeas corpus petition writ by lawyers retained by his mother took Durkin out of police hands and brought a release for Irma and Betty. If they wanted it, Durkin was sent to jail and Irma went to relatives.

Girls Were Friendly

But good will and wishes for the best of luck marked a meeting there after Betty and Irma. Betty spoke first.

"My troubles are over; your are just beginning," she told the girl, the legality of whose marriage to Durkin is in question because the gun man may never have divorced his first wife, Ruth, whom he left several years ago.

The two women talked of fur coats—an emerald Durkin gave Betty and a gray squirrel that was his bridal gift to Irma.

"Don't let them get it away from you," advised Betty. By "them" she said she meant Durkin's relatives.

Investigates Marriage
State's Attorney Crowe, who is determined to obtain a hanging verdict, has started an investigation of Durkin's first marriage. If his marriage to Irma is illegal, she can be forced to testify against him, it was pointed out.

Durkin's marriage to Irma in East St. Louis, Dec. 4, first put federal agents who arrested him on his trail, it was revealed by Edward J. Dowd, government operative.

Tracing an automobile stolen in Detroit, Dowd found that an application for a license for it had been made in the name of Irma Conley—Conley being the name Durkin used at the time.

Inquiry in St. Louis developed that Irma had said they were going to California.

There another license was applied for in the name of Irma Conley for the same automobile. The federal men were notified and trailed Durkin from California to Texas and then to St. Louis near where he was captured.

River Freight Traffic Reaches Old Time Mark

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 22—(AP)—Mississippi river freight traffic between St. Louis and Cairo last year reached the yearly average of thirty to forty years ago when Mississippi steamboats were in their glory.

Major John C. Gotsals, United States engineer for this district, announced today that freight carried on this section of the river by packet boats and the federal barge line was 1,900,000 tons, about a 20 per cent increase over 1924. This was greater than in any year since 1897 and was about the annual average from 1887 to 1897.

Besides this, some 2,000,000 tons of grain and gravel were shipped by private barges and ferries carried about 6,000,000 tons of freight across the river.

$50,000 Diamond Robbery in St. Louis this Morn

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 22—(AP)—Three armed robbers entered the J. H. Friton jewelry store today, bound the proprietor and a clerk, hand and foot, and escaped with a tray of diamonds valued at $50,000.

Thomas Richards went to Chicago this morning to spend the day on business.

THE TIGER—
Tiger, tiger, burning bright
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?

In what distant deeps or skies
Burnt the fire of thine eyes?
On what wings dare he aspire?
What the hand dare seize the fire?

And what shoulder and what art
Could twist the sinews of thy heart?
And, when thy heart began to beat,
What dread hand and what dread feet?

What the hammer? What the chain?
In what furnace was thy brain?
What the anvil? What dread grasp
Dare its deadly terrors clasp?

When the stars threw down their spears,
And water'd heaven with their tears,<
Did He smile His work to see?
Did He who made the lamb make thee?

Tiger, tiger, burning bright
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Dare frame thy fearful symmetry?

Birthday Oyster Supper Enjoyed

On last Friday evening, January the fifteenth, Orin Coltrin of Dixon, Illinois, very pleasantly entertained a number of his friends and relatives with a delicious three course oyster supper, at the home of his nephew and niece, J. E. Brierton, and sisters south of Stuttgart, Ark., in honor of his eightieth birthday anniversary.

The table was beautifully decorated. The Lady Baltimore Birthday cake which was artistic as well as delicious, was made by his niece, Birdie Brierton.

The evening was spent in conversation and Herman Timm favored those present with several delightful violin solos, accompanied by the organ by his daughters Misses Viola and Nora.

Mr. Coltrin was the recipient of many nice gifts.

Those present reported a very enjoyable evening and departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. Coltrin many more happy birthdays to be spent in Arkansas. He is congratulated on attaining the age of 80 years with a youthful appearance and much vitality. Four generations were represented as the supper as follows: Orin Coltrin, Mrs. W. A. Barnhart, Mrs. Charles Dobbs, and two sons, Charles Willard and James Arthur. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. E. Brierton, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Timm, Messrs W. A. and Theodore Barnhart and Charles Dobbs.

Walnut Household Science Club Meets

Walnut, Ill., Jan. 21—(Special)—The Household Science club met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ollie Atherton and Mrs. L. E. Gonigam and Mrs. Roy Smith were assistant hostesses. Mrs. George Gonigam, Mrs. Roy Atherton, Mrs. Mary Keithahn and Mrs. Olen Melton were present as guests. The roll call was responded to by each member telling her favorite soup and how it was made. During the business session plans were made for the guest evening and committees appointed. An article, "The Home Maker's Ten Commandments," was read for Mrs. Frank Neal by Mrs. Ira White.

Mrs. George Epperson gave a reading, "The Song of the Farm Widow." Mrs. L. E. Gonigam then demonstrated cheese croquettes. A social time followed after which the hostesses served a nice lunch. The guest evening will be Feb. 10 at the home of Mrs. Anna Phillips.

CHOIR TO REHEARSE THIS EVENING—
All members of the choir of the Christian church are asked to meet at the church at 7:30 o'clock this evening for rehearsal.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—
Grapefruit, cereal cooked with dates, thin cream, bread crumb pancakes, syrup, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—
Egg and vegetable salad, rye bread, squash pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—
Veal timbales, twice baked potatoes, creamed carrots, molded spinach, prune whip with custard sauce, whole wheat bread, apple jelly, milk, coffee.

The veal timbales use up bits of veal left from the roast suggested in the dinner just preceding.

The egg and vegetable salad is somewhat out of the ordinary but very much worth while.

Egg and Vegetable Salad.
Five hard cooked eggs, 1 small green pepper, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 4 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons olive oil, mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 rule French dressing.

Cut eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and mash. Remove pith and seeds from pepper and mince flesh. Combine celery, pepper and egg yolks with vinegar, oil, salt, paprika and lemon juice. Mix well and add enough mayonnaise to make moist. Fill the whites of the eggs with this mixture. Mix cabbage with French dressing and arrange on a platter. Serve eggs on the bed of cabbage.

"Threads" of pimento through the cabbage add much to the attractiveness of the salad.

BY CYNTHIA GREY—

It was a long time before I realized what one meant when referring to the "rear-seat-driver."

I had visions of a new make of machine in which the driver sat in the rear seat, and I couldn't blame anyone for continually knocking them.

But I had the extreme pleasure of being corrected in my thoughts, along with the great displeasure of being in the same seat with a woman-rear-seat-driver recently.

Never in my life will I blame a man if he spoils the afternoon drive of a woman-rear-seat-driver. I never hope to have to sit through the agony of that ride I recently was "treated to" by a woman friend.

Her husband was very congenial, full of humor, and in fact very entertaining as he took his position at the wheel and his wife and I snuggled under the warm robe in the rear seat to "enjoy" a Sunday afternoon ride.

Away from the house and toward the nearest main thoroughfare my friend's husband drove his machine. A correct "main thoroughfare" stop was made and we joined the throng of Sunday afternoon autoists, each hurrying toward the country—to beauty and the open air.

There was pleasure on that ride from the house to the main thoroughfare. There I sat, perfectly at ease, about to enjoy a perfect afternoon.

And then it started: "George didn't you see that machine? I wish you would be careful, for goodness sakes look where you're going; you'll wreck us or someone else if you don't stop driving so fast and so close to those other machines."

"Turn, George, turn! Well, it's too late now, but why didn't you turn that last corner so we could pass Mrs. So-and-So's house? I wanted Miss Grey to see—gee, I wish you would hold that wheel with two hands—but you wouldn't think to drive where I want to go." (All of this was said while "George" was driving along as carefully as any man ever drove and we'd hardly driven three blocks.) Then it dawned on me what a "rear-seat-driver" is.

By this time I was sitting straight in the seat, probably because my friend was, and she still was telling George what to do and what not to do.

And I wasn't much surprised when we returned after our "afternoon of pleasure" to notice that George had lost all of the pleasantness and humor which I had noticed in him when we started.

The next time I go riding with that woman... I'll walk.

Ideal Club Held Meeting

Mrs. Robert Fulton, entertained the members of the Ideal Club, and several guests, at her home Wednesday.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Addie Fordham.

Roll Call was responded to with Household Hints.

Mrs. Edwin Newton read two articles. The first, "The Etiquette of being President of U. S." written by Marquis James; the second written by Frazier Hunt, in a simply-told account of a luncheon of liver and bacon at the White House. Mr. Hunt and wife spending a most delightful day with President and Mrs. Coolidge, after the luncheon, they together attended a baseball game.

Mrs. Maude Fergusson gave excellent current events.

Miss Dorothy Atkins then favored with a selection on the piano, and responded to an encore, which were very pleasing.

Mrs. Fulton, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Walter Smith, served appetizing refreshments.

The meeting then adjourned with memories of a pleasant afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kizer Honor Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Raffenberg delightedly entertained a company of friends last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kizer who are leaving Dixon tomorrow with their two sons for Rockford, where they will make their future home. Five hundred was the amusement for the evening and a delicious two course luncheon was served.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kizer regret very much their departure from the city.

PROPHETSTOWN YOUNG PEOPLE MARRY—

Prophetstown, Ill., Jan. 21—(Special)—Mrs. Bertha Breur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bridgestock, and Harold Beeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Beeman, were married Tuesday of last week by the Rev. J.N. Dingle of Morrison.

Both the bride and groom are Prophetstown people and both are well and favorably known here.

The couple will make their home on Jackson street about three miles east of town on a farm.

A good attendance is desired as there will be election of officers.

Les Amies Bridge Club Entertained

Mrs. J. E. McIntyre and Mrs. James Bales delightfully entertained the members of the Les Amies Bridge club at the home of Mrs. Bales yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Koch won the honor for high score; and Mrs. Chester Barriage won the favor for the second score and Mrs. Jule Pett won the consolation favor. A tempting two course luncheon was served.

MYSTIC WORKERS TO MEET FRIDAY EVENING—

The Mystic Workers will meet in Union Hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

There will be some very important business matters discussed and every member is urged to attend.

The small son of Secretary and Mrs. Robert Toole of Fulton, Ill., will be made a member of the Juvenile branch of the Mystics.

Refreshments will be served and a good time enjoyed by all who attend.

ENTERTAINED WITH DANCING PARTY—

Mr. and Mrs. John Gentry entertained last evening at their home with a dancing party which proved a most successful and enjoyable affair.

PHIDIAN ART CLUB TO MEET—

The members of the Phidian Art club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the club house, proved to be one of the best attractions staged in many months. Despite the sub zero weather, about 300 men were present and enjoyed the program of entertainment which had been very cleverly arranged. A social session was served and cards furnished the main diversion of the evening.

WHAT IS EXPECTED.

Things that the great body of our citizenry expects the government to do for us would make a long list if all were enumerated. When any desired end is sought a chorus rises, "Let Washington Do It." Washington is besought to regulate business, to do the things business would like to have done and to undo that which seems to any of us ought to be undone. Nation's Business, the monthly published in Washington by the United States chamber of commerce, the largest business organization in this country, tells most illuminatingly of the demands from all over the land to let Washington do this thing or that, and tells it in a way to illustrate the impossible demands, the contradictory sets of demands which are constantly being made. Here is a portion of its "story" that is worth reading:

An Iowa shoe dealer writes, "There ought to be a law to limit the styles of shoes."

As a people, we have come to expect the federal government to perform economic miracles. "Pass a law" has become the national panacea.

If we think the price of wheat is too low, we say to Washington, "Please raise the price of wheat." If we think the price of sugar is too high, we say to Washington, "Please lower the price of sugar."

We ask Washington to lower the freight rates and in the same breath request higher wages for railroad labor. We haven't yet thought of a glorious third law compelling the railroads at the same time to pay higher dividends—and to pay them oftener.

Aren't we asking too much of our legislators? They are not supermen.

The cynic says that the trouble with representative government is that it truly represents. It does truly represent—and therein lies its great strength.

But it can no more repeal economic law than it can repeal the laws of nature.

Washington is just a great cross-section of American citizenry—hard-working, honest, doing its best under a deluge of instruction from all of us, the burden of which is, "There ought to be a law . . ."

In 1924 100,000 new laws were proposed in this land of the free, where already there are 1,900,000 on the statute books.

We have come to ask congress to do everything from enacting a maternity bill to running a three-billion-dollar merchant marine.

We forget that our forefathers who created the greatest form of government of all time did not design that political mechanism to operate business enterprises.

The checks and balance, designed to protect political liberty, by their very nature prevent efficient operation of business projects. As Herbert Hoover puts it, "The government lacks rapidity of decision." Which is proper. It can't cut corners. There must be debate. Even red tape. Business must make quick decisions.

Yet we go blithely ahead, asking Washington to enter new fields of business activity. We forget that every entry requires more laws, more office-holders, more expense, more taxes.

More important, every law which puts government into business strikes at that which has made this nation great—individual reward for individual effort.

Our national legislative mill will soon start grinding again. A larger part of its grist, by far, will deal with business questions; your business and your neighbor's.

For this is an economic age—an age in which industry has become so interrelated that law directed at one activity extends out and on, affecting a score of others in unlooked-for industries and localities.

An imperative need today is a better understanding of the growing relations between government and business, and also a better appreciation of the dependence of every industry upon every other. Nation's Business is a magazine devoted to this end. It is published in Washington by the largest business organization in the country, and is founded on the belief that anything which is not for the public good is not for the good of business.

UNDAUNTABLE.

Lieut. John Macready is going to try to fly eight miles high. This is higher than any man ever ascended.

If he succeeds, and gets down alive, science probably will learn some valuable facts.

But do you suppose that, down deep in his heart, Lieut. Macready is moved by a desire to advance science?

Hardly. Rather, he has the old, unconquerable spirit of the gallant adventurer; the spirit that knows that death is unimportant and that life is sweet only if it is lived strenuously; the spirit that has animated all the explorers and empire builders since time began.

So here's luck, Lieutenant. May you fly high and land safely.

Dorothy Dustin, who won the Illinois spelling bee, stumbled only when the word "ascension" was given her. "Liquefy" and "benefiting" were easy for her, as also "separate." These look like easy words in print, but just let teacher fire 'em at you—then they aren't so easy.

Some of our best non-stop flights are being made by pedestrians crossing the street.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE GINGERBREAD MAN IS LOST

The gobbler with his head in the air marched away on tip-toe.

Nancy and Nick and poor Mister Havalook decided to follow the gobbler to the drain where, according to the story, he had seen the Rag Doll.

"We'll go along and take the testimony," said Sniff Whiskers, the rat in the tomato colored velvet suit motoring to the rest of his policemen to follow. "We like drains any way."

"You can't go without us," cried Calamity Jane. "We're here to see this thing out."

"Yes, and we want all the witnesses we can get," shouted the Crinoline Doll, who seemed not to be able to speak quietly ever since she had lost her skirt.

"We'd better let them go," said poor Mister Havalook to the Twins. "If we don't give them their way in everything, there certainly will be a revolution."

"Shall we start?" asked Sniff Whisker.

"Do, please," said poor Mister Havalook. And as usual he repeated, "Do, please" because he liked the sound. It sounded exactly like a ring or president or something.

So off they started.

"Where's the train?" puffed Mrs. Jiggs. "I'm much too fat to walk."

"Yes, where's the train?" said Limber Legs. "I'm much too thin to walk."

"And I'm much too stiff," said the Tin Soldier. "Where's the engineer I wish to ride."

But no Gingerbread Man answered when they called.

"Where is the Gingerbread Man? Where's the engineer?" all the dolls began to shout. "We can't ride to the drain without an engineer to run the train. Ho, Mister Gingerbread! Where are you?"

Suddenly Belinda began to stare with her China-blue eyes and following the direction of her glance, the others beheld the gobbler with his head in the air, marching away on tip-toe.

"Murder, Theft!" shrieked the Hidy.

Dr. Cummings' Health Column

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series on tuberculosis. Tomorrow: General Cautionary Measures.)

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service

People seem to expect the doctor to advise a change of climate for tuberculosis. For many years this has been a common practice. At one time sea voyages were ordered. At others, it was mountain air, country air, dry air, some special kind of air in some special place. Even at the present time a doctor may be accused of selfish motives unless he advises the patient to go away somewhere.

There is also the problem of getting a patient away from his work, for it is almost always necessary for a consumptive to stop all work for a time. Then some climates are some what pleasanter than others. For these and no better reasons tuberculosis patients often leave a comfortable home and kind friends to go far away among strangers to enter a hospital no better than one near their own home or to foolishly rough it in some dreary camp or boarding house.

Talking Change

In Arizona and New Mexico consumptives wander from place to place and talk change, change, change of climate. This place is too windy and dusty. That place is too hot, another place too high. Only when they reconcile themselves to the quiet but rigid routine of rest and systematically take the cure, are they able the way to recovery.

A radical change of climate is seldom necessary in tuberculosis. Sanatoriums in Massachusetts are as successful as those in Colorado. Pennsylvania hospitals give as good results as California hospitals. Those who recover in a distant state may come back to extend its climate. Those who die there are silent.

So far as it is known, the climate characterized by favorable weather conditions all the day and all the

MITTENS

Of all the things that kiddies wear, when going out to play, it seems they take the poorest care of mittens, day by day. They either just misplace them, or they get them soppy wet. It's up to mom to trace them. It's no wonder mothers fret.

A youngster dashes in the door, and stories said are told. "Aw, I can't wear these any more. My hands get freezin' cold. I only threw three snowballs 'cause I have a little fun, and lookit at my mittens, non—they're soaked, an' weigh a ton."

Mom hangs them on the register and turns the heat up high. The youngster waits and fusses, with a quite impatient sigh. And then, when they are fairly dry, the kiddie shouts, "Aw, gee, I gotta have a new pair—these 'er stiff as they can be."

It's mittens, mittens, mittens that are ruined, stayed or lost. A little too forgets, it seems, that even mittens cost. But even so, we buy them, for a parent understands—it takes a lot to keep the warmth in busy little hands.

We're all content with our lot—if it's a whole lot.

If, in the future, husbands would tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth—wives wouldn't believe them anyhow, on account of the past.

My sympathy today goes out to the husband who distinctly heard his wife say, "You are the blight of my life," when for ten years he thought she was saying "light."

They fed the little kitty catnip and it lapped up every bit. My golly, there's no wonder that it threw a catnip fit.

NOW, HONESTLY—

Feeling kinda groggy, huh? Well, maybe, after all it's your own fault.

The outdoors is full of fresh air. Do you get it?

God gave you legs to walk with and arms to exercise with. Do you use them?

It's the easiest thing in the world to walk right up and take deep breaths, and build up your lungs. Ever take any?

Don't look for sympathy, when your spirit lags—look for exercise, fresh air and fair treatment to your system.

Girls kiss and make up' cause it rubs off.

Hurrah! The old man comes home to supper, kisses the good wife, brings the kids something, comments on a wonderful meal, and tells the Mrs. "We're goin' to a movie tomorrow night." Great stuff—but what's he been doing?

BY

E. R. Waite, Secretary,

J. J. O'BRIEN, PRESIDENT OF THE

BYLLESBY ENGINEERING &

MANAGEMENT CORPORATION, SAYS:

"That comparatively few people realize how the electric light and power companies of the country have held down and reduced the price paid for current by the consumer."

THAT government figures show that the average price of electric current has decreased at least 8 per cent during the past ten years, while the general cost of living has gone up at least 65 per cent.

THAT a large share of the credit of this achievement is due to the large holding, or investment-management companies. Such companies are of particular importance to medium size cities and small communities. Thousands of the latter enjoy 24-hour electric service at reasonable prices today solely as the result of the efforts of the investment-management companies.

THAT the Byllesby organization was a pioneer in the modern group plan of managing and financing public utilities, as well as in the development of the customer ownership plan of stock distribution among the public.

THAT the properly conducted investment-managing companies benefit the public by giving superior service; the best of engineering supervision; prompt construction of plants and extensions; adequate, low-cost financing; correct standards of public relations; aggressive commercial development; comprehensive accounting; collective purchasing and interchanged operating experience.

BY BUILDING UP LARGE MARKETS FOR ELECTRIC ENERGY," DECLARES MR. O'BRIEN, "WE HAVE MADE IT POSSIBLE TO

BUILD GREAT GENERATING STATIONS WHICH MEAN LOWER COST PRODUCTION. BY THESE AND OTHER EFFICIENCIES WE HAVE REDUCED THE PRICE OF ELECTRICITY IN THE FACE OF THE UPWARD TREND OF TAXES, LABOR, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES."

PIRATES TO FACE STRONGER FIGHTS FOR NAT'L CROWN

But World's Champs Will Rely on Team Which Won Two Titles

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Pittsburgh favored by the youth and confidence of a machine which triumphed last year, will face reinforced teams in its drive to retain the National League championship.

Six teams have made major league deals to strengthen positions at which they displayed weakness last year. The Pirates lineup, however, will remain unchanged unless Hal Thayne, infielder, and Paul Waner, outfielder, Pacific Coast additions, win regular berths.

Chicago, cellar occupant last year, alone of the clubs has been unable to make a winter deal in the majors. The new Cub pilot, Joe McCarthy, will make his fight with a team rebuilt from minor league recruits.

Four clubs from which vigorous opposition to the Pirates has been predicted on the basis of their performances last year—New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Boston, have taken steps to remedy shortcomings.

Other Teams Stronger

Players whose temporary loss through injury weakened the Giant drive to head off Pittsburgh last year have recovered while McGraw has added Jimmy King, former Quaker, to his pitching staff. Hugh McQuillan, mound star of 1924 who was suspended shortly after the start of the season last year, is expected to add slash strength to New York.

First base in the Cincinnati lineup will have a new and capable guardian if Wally Pipp, recently acquired from the Yankees, fulfills expectations. Luque's recovery from an operation assures the same strong pitching corps Cincinnati had last season.

The benefit of an early start under the leadership of Rogers Hornsby installed as manager of the Cardinals last June, is expected to aid the fight of St. Louis. Purchase from the Giants to the youthful Huntzinger adds to the club's pitching possibilities.

The Braves, who made a strong finish last season with the aid of young pitchers, have acquired Jimmy Johnston, a seasoned infielder, Brown, an outfielder, and Jimmy Taylor, catcher, from the Robins.

Brooklyn, rebuilt with veteran material and Philadelphia, looking for added infield strength at first base from Jack Bentley, are hopeful.

SPORT BRIEFS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Of sixteen tennis writers at Cannes, France, fourteen believe Suzanne Lenglen will defeat Helen Wills.

Ernie Nevers will captain the New York Giants professional football team if games are arranged for this eleven in California. W. F. Munson, advance agent for the Giants, announced before leaving for the west. The former Stanford star was under contract for five games with the Jacksonville Florida All Stars, now disbanded.

Announcing his selection of Gene Tunney as logical contender for the title, Tex Rickard has given indications that Jack Dempsey will defend the heavyweight championship under his promotion next summer or fall.

Deprived of a world's title fight with Mickey Walker by a ruling of the state athletic commission, Tommy Milligan, English champion, tonight in New York will meet Jack Zivic of Pittsburgh in a ten round encounter.

Announcement that Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, will meet Jack Delaney in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden, N. Y., Feb. 5, was made by Risko's manager.

The champion Pirates will open the 1926 National League season against the Cardinals at St. Louis, April 13, according to a schedule drafted at Pittsburgh after a joint committee of the two leagues had failed to agree in a week-long New York meeting.

Twenty powerful electric lights to improve indoor tennis conditions in New York for the approaching struggle between stars of France and America, will be tested at the seventh regiment armory by U. S. L. T. A. officials tomorrow.

Paul Bañon of the New York Athletic club, whose side was pierced by a broken fencing foil in a recent match, will recover, physicians say.

George Goodwyn, champion English walker, is due in New York Sunday to compete against the American titleholder, Willie Plant, in a three mile international event at the Millrose games, Feb. 4.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Patterson, N. J.—Eddie Anderson, Casper, Wyoming, won a newspaper decision over Pettie Mack, Jersey City ten rounds.

Tampa—Jack Renault, Canada, knocked out Clement E. Saavedra, Chile, 2 rounds.

Urbana—Eddie Shea, Chicago, knocked out Burt Wanders, Buffalo, one round.

SNOW WILL HELP WOLF HUNT; SOME DIXONITES ENTER

Sportsmen Anticipating a Great Day in Carroll County Monday

Thomson, Ill., Jan. 22—The snowfall that blanketed this section of the state Wednesday night was a boon for the purposes of the wolf and fox hunt to be held in York township next Monday, according to local hunters. With snow on the ground, the animals are more easily seen, and can be more easily tracked, and since the hunt was first planned, it was hoped that the ground would be covered with snow on the day of the roundup.

All plans for the drive, including the mapping out of the territory to be covered, have been completed. The tract to be hunted includes a section of the bluffs and hills lying northeast of this village, the timber on the slopes back of the bluffs and part of the Johnson creek bottoms. This section is known to be infested with wolves and foxes, and with the large numbers of hunters already secured, it is believed several of the "varmints" will be taken.

The hunters will meet as planned at Argo-Fa, six miles northeast of Thomson, and lunch will be served at the Argo-Fa church at 11 o'clock, the hunt to start immediately afterward. Scores of sportsmen from Freeport, Rockford, Chicago, Dixon, Sterling, Clinton, Rock Island, Davenport as well as other cities, have signified their intentions of attending the hunt, and it is believed that every able-bodied man in Carroll county who is

Mothers! Mothers! Did you read the paper this last week about the "Daughters of Eve?" Did it occur to you that each of those daughters had a mother, that one of those daughters' mother was dead, that she was helpless in a heartless world, that in her desperation she requested to be sent to the home at Geneva? Did it also occur to you that these children because they had no "protection" must pay the penalty of the court, while the "Sons of Adam" having had that "protection" are at

In order to comply with game laws, and to insure the safety of the hunters, the following rules have been adopted:

1. Positively no shooting during hunt except at wolves or foxes. Do not shoot at birds, rabbits or other game.
2. Do not shoot at foxes unless you have regular hunter's license. Wolves may be shot without license.
3. Positively no firearms but shotguns permitted on hunt.
4. Buckshot absolutely barred. No shots larger than BB permitted.
5. Follow in detail the instructions of the lieutenant in charge of the section to which you are assigned.
6. Look before you shoot. Be sure no hunter is in line of fire.

Dixon and Mt. Morris Bowlers Meet This Eve

Because of other activities last evening's scheduled contest between the American Legion and Roxana bowling teams of the City League at the Pastime alleys was postponed and will be rolled off next week. A pick team of local pin stars will meet the best to be assembled at Mt. Morris on the Pastime alleys this evening. Dixon accepted an invitation to bowl on the Mt. Morris alleys two weeks ago and came back with the small end of the score and this evening they will try to even up things.

large and free. Who can tell whose daughters will be next? Do you know how to handle the situation with your own daughter? Are you interested in your neighbor's daughter? Has that problem ever perplexed you? If so then we invite you to The Brethren church Tuesday afternoon where you will hear Mrs. Alfreda J. Howell, who is an expert on this subject. The time is 2:30. Every mother in Dixon is invited. Again on Wednesday evening at 8:00 p. m. at the Baptist church Dr. Philip Yarrow will lecture on the subject "Dangerous Tendencies in the Moral Life of Today."

Our Prayer Band has been recalled in favor of this meeting. We urge that not only every member of this church but every person who reads this will attend this meeting.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Rowland's Pharmacy, Dixon and Rochelle, or any druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was months old and was an invalid for years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day."

Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

DIXON TELEGRAPH VACATION HOMESITES

THE TELEGRAPH has secured a beautiful tract of land in Sawyer County, Northern Wisconsin, on Grindstone Lake, a short distance from Hayward, surrounded by wonderful clear water lakes which abound in large "Muskie," pike, bass and other species of game fish. Property is located in the section where the deer and duck hunter can get game galore. This beautiful tract of land is being subdivided into ample sized lots for homes, cabins, or camp sites.

In order to obtain new readers and to give present subscribers a real place to spend an outing, we have made it possible to supply beautiful sites for the ridiculously small sum of $39.50. Price includes a year's paid in advance subscription to the Telegraph. Terms: $9.50 down, $2.50 per month. An individual deed goes with each lot. Nothing more to pay—no assessments or interest.

No more than five lots to any one individual. If you buy your limit, you can present each of four friends with a year's subscription to the Telegraph, besides your own subscription.

Grindstone Lake is four miles long and two miles wide. The shore line is reserved as a park for all lot owners. Every lot has lake and beach rights, whether on the water-front or not. You will have your choice in rotation as sales are made. ACT NOW! DON'T DELAY!

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

PRIME MINISTER GERMANY, DR. LUTHER

To the Dixon Evening Telegraph: It may be that some of your readers would be interested in hearing something of the above named high official of the great republic of central Europe. The fact that he bears the name of the Great Reformer of the sixteenth century, is of interest to many people wherever the Protestant religion is known.

He does not claim to be a direct descendant of the Monk of Wittenberg, but he is evidently of the same stock, and bears some of his characteristics. The former secured religious liberty for the Fatherland, and the latter to devoting all his energies to maintain political freedom. As Reichskanzler under President Ebert, he rendered valuable service in maintaining the honor and integrity of the German republic.

He was severely criticized by the enemies of President Ebert, because he gave expression to some words of commendation over the coffin of the dead president. Under the administration of President Hindenburg, he has filled the same office, with credit to himself, and with safety to the republic. Recently he has been severely criticized, and his resignation demanded, by the enemies of the republic, because he signed the Locarno Agreement. The Reichstag decided by a large majority that Chancellor Luther and foreign minister Dr. Stresemann should go to London and sign that treaty. It was reported that an assassin was seeking the life of Foreign Minister Stresemann, and to dispose of him as they had done with his predecessors in the same office, namely, ministers Ersberger and Rathenau.

A few weeks ago I was foolish enough to address a letter to Reichskanzler Luther, assuring him of the friendship and approval of millions of American citizens and soldiers. In his efforts to maintain the honor and stability of the German republic. To my surprise he sent me a cordial and most appreciative reply. Some would claim it was presumptuous and foolish on my part to address a high official in government without any credentials except my own initiative. But I am not sorry. His answer justifies any foolhardiness. It might be well if more of our private citizens ventured advice, or some words of encouragement, when our rulers needed them.

The friends of the German republic look to America for encouragement. If the Hohenzollern dynasty is reenthroned in central Europe our brave soldiers will have poured out their blood in vain on the soil of France.

But I speak more of this in an article in the National Tribune which I enclose, and which you may see fit to publish.

Respectfully submitted,
T. F. Dornblaser,
Nowawes by Lutsdam, Germany.

Dr. Dornblaser's enclosure follows: Editor National Tribune: The majority of the men who rushed to the rescue, when our Nation was threatened with disunion and moral degradation, did not ask, "How much will we get per month?" The pittance of $11 or $12 will not dampen their ardor. The salvation of the Union was the watchword which animated them. Many gave up family associations and lucrative positions in business to serve their country in its time of greatest peril.

The octogenarians who saved the Nation from disruption do not ask luxuries. At their time of life the comforts of home and wife are more needful than at any other period. To me, a soldier's home for men alone, seems like a prison or poorhouse. One reason I am residing in Germany, is because I can enjoy the comforts of home and family life for less than half what it would cost me in America, including the $10 a year which I must pay to keep up my American citizenship. Here we get five rooms for $8 a month, whereas in Chicago, they would cost me $60 for similar accommodations.

Our Government is not so poor as to require its old veterans to emigrate to a foreign clime, to seek the comforts of home. As poor as Germany is today, she pensions many of her old people, whether they rendered public service or not. Poor people are not set out on the street when they are unable to pay the rent.

Two Pictures.
In a monarchy there are two classes—the ruling class, which enrich themselves by dominating and exploiting the masses, and the mental, or subject class, who have no voice in the Government, and are held in contempt by their rich neighbors. It is a common thing for the royal family to own dozens of splendid palaces, and to live in the height of luxury and elegance, while thousands of their subjects are confronted with poverty and oppression without any recourse or hope of rising out of their degraded position.

The ignorant masses look upon their rulers as kind of demigods, who are quite willing to accept their homage, and some are blasphemous enough to demand a sort of worshipful demeanor on the part of the people.

It behooves our people to be on their guard, that our Nation does not drift into the same rut. We must not forget the lofty purpose for which $1,000 of our brave boys laid down their lives on the bloody fields of France. It was not to crush the common soldier or the common people of Germany, but to unshrine the ambitious war lords, who proposed to rule the world with the sword, to crush the spirit of democracy and to exploit the people for their own aggrandizement.

We dare not forget the broad vision which animated our brave soldiers to risk the dangers of sea and land, for what? "To make the world safe for democracy." While they had this world vision, we should at least have inspiration enough to make our own little corner of creation safe for democracy. We should give our officials to understand that they are the servants of the people and not their masters. As was well said in the columns of a recent number of The National Tribune, the people are sovereign, not the State, or the political party that may be in the majority.

Came Across to Vote.

The present administration seems to be bent on economy in Government, which is commendable. Doubtless there has been unnecessary extravagance in the various departments. Too many favorite employees had little or nothing to do except to be on hand to draw their monthly check.

The President must command the respect of all good citizens for his determined stand against extravagance on the part of Government officials, and his efforts to lighten the burdens of the poor taxpayers.

My desire that he and his party should retain the reins of Government was so great as to induce me to cross the wide Atlantic to cast my ballot for the Republican ticket, hoping that he and his associates might repent of their mistake, in applying the pruning knife of economy to reduce the meager allowance granted the old veteran and his widow.

If the men now in office, had their ears rent with the bullets at Gettysburg, or had marched with Grant from Donelson to Shiloh, and to Vicksburg, or had gone with Sherman to Atlanta, or had stood with Thomas at Stone River and Chickamauga, or had tasted the horrors of Andersonville prison for a few months, or had fought with Grant through the Wilderness to Appomattox, they would not have the heart to deny a decent living to the war-scarred veterans of that immortal army.

Gave Much to Country.

I am glad that I could join my comrades in giving four of my best years as a soldier in the Civil War, two of my sons served in the Spanish-American War, one returned in broken health, and spent the rest of his life on crutches, but never received one cent of Government pension. My youngest son sleeps with his comrades of the American Marine Corps, in France. It affords me comfort to visit their graves on Memorial Day. Many of us were glad that we had son to give, to help secure the rights and liberties of the common people. The veterans of the Civil War make no unreasonable demands. All they ask is a square deal and a fair compensation for service rendered. That and nothing more.

THOMAS F. DORNBLASER,
George H. Thomas Post, Chicago, Ill.,
Nowawes by Potsdam, Germany.

HELPING HANDS

Shelbyville, Ind.—Because John Hendrickson was ill and unable to gather his corn crop, 40 neighbors and their wives gathered at his house, and while the men cleared the fields in one day, the women prepared a big dinner.

We will print your letter heads and envelopes. B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

Is this your BIRTHDAY

FRIDAY, JAN. 22

If so, you will have considerable financial ability and should make a success.

You are apt to have a hasty temper, which will be the principal thing you must watch if you would succeed.

A flare of sudden anger, gone as soon as it comes, may nevertheless turn people against you in critical moments. Otherwise you will be well liked. Your marriage will be rather early and quite happy if you control that temper.

SATURDAY JANUARY 23

If so you will meet people easily and your contacts with them will be agreeable.

You are not inclined to rush into anything hastily, and will not exert yourself too much to obtain anything.

Financially you will never be a genius. Your income will be sufficient for a happy life, but you will never become wealthy through your own efforts.

You will marry after you have grown past your youth and your married life will be peaceful and happy.

Sunday, Jan. 24

If so you are in for a slight handicap, but you should win in the long run.

The making of friends will not be particularly easy, because of a certain timidity and reserve. Those you do make, however, will stay with you.

In the financial world you will be handicapped again by this reserve, which will prevent you from taking chances on which other men make fortunes. You will outgrow this in time, however, and should have good judgment.

Your marriage probably will be rather late in life.

OBITUARY

MRS. EMIL JANSSEN
(Contributed)

Clara Smith was born in Nelson township on Nov. 11, 1889. On Nov. 23, 1906 she was married to Emil Janssen, who with two daughters, Marion, aged 19, and Evelyn, aged 15 survive. On Jan. 9 she was taken to the Dixon public hospital where on Jan. 13 she submitted to an operation in hopes of getting relief. All that loving hands of doctors and nurses could do was done for her but it was to be otherwise and on Jan. 14 she passed peacefully away. She was conscious until the very last breath and with the expression, "I am just fine," as was her sunny disposition during her sickness, always thinking and asking about neighbors and friends who were ill. Besides her husband and daughters she leaves her aged father, Christopher Smith, three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Geiger, Rock Falls; Mrs. Max Genz and Mrs. John Stone; and a brother Walter Smith of Nelson, and an adopted brother, John Paddock of Beloit, Wis., besides a host of relatives and friends who will miss her.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church and Sunday school and until her sickness prevented her, she was a faithful attendant.

SAME OLD BAY

Paris—The Bay of Biscay is the same as ever. Investigation of a report that the bed of the bay had undergone a sudden upheaval revealed the story as a hoax, the government announces. A special survey ship was sent out to look over the bay.

WHAT'S PUFF FOR?

Tampa, Fla.—When Washington Abraham Fuller was searched at the police station here, the negro was found to be carrying a powder puff, a woman's vanity case, five knives, a pair of lead knuckles, two rings, two tie-pins, a hatpin, a pair of dice, automatic pistol cartridges and a razor.

Flashes of Life

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Berlin — Handsome automobile bodies that will not show scratches and will not need painting can be produced if claims of the inventor of a process for aluminum alloys are true.

Berlin—Nine of the ten members of the new cabinet have academic doctor's degrees.

Atlantic City—Evelyn Nesbit is back, regretting an incident in Chicago New Years. Her explanation is that slightly blue, she started reading Schopenhauer's essay on suicide and acted on the impulse.

Hollywood—Bebe Daniels has a few scratches and bumps on her head from falling off a bicycle and on a curbstone. She was fleeing movie motorcycle cops.

New York—Women cannot assault their husbands, then kiss, make up and go free in Magistrate Gresser's court. He ordered Mrs. Mary Carpanisky held in $25,000 bail for gashing her husband's head with a plate.

Kansas City, Mo.—Mrs. Virginia Bridger Hahn has lost a million dollars suit against the producers of "The Covered Wagon." Her father, Jim Bridger, Indian scout, was depicted as a drunkard and a husband of Indian women. Federal Judge Reeves holds that ancestors cannot be defamed.

London—The king and queen of Rumania are reported to have gone to one of their castles for a rest cure, necessitated by their son Carol's affairs.

Madrid—Alvator Retana and Juan Caballero, novelists, have been fined, jailed and deprived of civil rights for 11 years for books regarded as offensive to modesty.

ELEPHANT IN SPLINTS
London—Oajah, the pithy African elephant in the London Zoo, has been badly disfigured through errors in diet. As a cure for his knock-knees, leg casts and splints have been prescribed by a conference of surgeons. Oajah is wearing them but much against his wishes.

Bankers Consider Funding C. A. & E. Electric Lines
Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Two hundred bankers and investment brokers from the east and mid-west will meet here Saturday relative to financing extension of the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin Electric Railway. The projected development involves four or five million dollars.

During the day they will inspect the road's property and will survey the new West Chester division, now nearing completion. This trackage will be used by the Chicago elevated lines after it is put in service.

Discover Plot Against Lives Serbian Cabinet

Belgrade, Jan. 22—(AP)—Discovery of a plot against the lives of King Alexander and his cabinet ministers is believed to be behind the sudden decision of Premier Radich to return from the Riviera where he went on January 19 for an announced long stay for his health.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted

By GERTRUDE S. & WENTWORTH-JAMES

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. "The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted" with Irene Rich, is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Eileen Mannering, wife of the district attorney, is present in a notorious inn when it is raided and is seen by the newspaper reporters. Meanwhile, the report is circulated that her husband is about to withdraw from the race for re-election. Their son, Bob, is accused of having caused a woman's death in a motor car smash and his father considers it his duty, as long as he is in office, to prosecute him. This nearly causes an estrangement between husband and wife.

CHAPTER X—Continued

It was a reviving tonic to her after all of those horrors. Here she once more, she instantly remembered Bob and turned frantically upon Simmie.

"The paper! Give me that paper!" she gasped, clutching at him.

But eluding her, Simmie rushed away into the shadows. Any to where the thoughtful Slick had a taxi waiting that they might speed back to Wallace, and during a pleasant journey he might congratulate himself upon the successful outcome of his masterly strategy and share with Simmie the just rewards of so notable a project.

Duped, deserted, alone in the darkness of that unfamiliar spot, Eileen was almost beside herself as she realized her plight. Had she been upheld merely by thoughts of self she might have swooned, surrendering helplessly to her woes. But now, the remembrance of Bob, the mighty stimulus of mother love, buoyed her up, and that hope which springs eternal in the human breast thrust back her secret

He hoped to shut out a horrid vision.

Wallace was an honest man, who would be no party to so despicable a trick. It was a mistake. It must be a mistake of his too zealous assistants. Could she but get to Wallace all would be well.

Moved by this thought, she started along the road, half running and stumbling blindly in the gloom. Careless of direction and heedless of her surroundings, she was soon breathless, footsore and aching in every muscle. Yet, in the glory of her martyrdom, uplifted by the divine miracle of mother love, she drove her delicately nurtured body to ever greater effort.

Then all in a moment a blinding light enveloped her as might the heavenly fire, some saint. Brakes squealed, and a gruff masculine voice was raised indignantly, to quickly die as she limped forlornly towards him.

With a great gasp of relief, Eileen recognized that it was a taxicab. A taxi which would bear her swift as the wind out of this nightmare of horrors. Bear her wearied limbs and her bruised feet to the soothing solace of a bath, her tired body to the grateful comfort of a soft bed. Ah, never had home seemed more delightful, more inviting.

But at the thought of Bob she steeled her yielding spirits. As she sank, with a sigh that was almost a sob, into the soft cushions of the taxicab, it was Wallace's address she gave the driver.

CHAPTER XI

John Mannering sat alone in his office at the County Court House, while without the shadows of mid-night enshrouded the city. He sat at the desk of the District Attorney, in a seat to which he had been called by a vote of his fellow citizens and which he had graced with honor and distinction. Yet there was no pride in his bearing. Rather, as he sat there under the glare of the electric lights was it that of a man utterly weary by intense feeling. But of a strong man, unbeaten, who, having for a time trodden the path of indecision, has finally chosen the road he proposes to follow regardless of any obstacle.

With a sigh he straightened himself in his chair and made a movement as if to arise when the telephone held him. He drew the instrument towards him, and as he placed the receiver to his ear the voice of Dryden, managing editor of the Star, reached him.

"But, Mannering, you can't withdraw at this late hour—it's impossible."

Was he about to return to the fray? No. His tones rang clear. "There has been a raid at Calkin's Inn, Mannering. The Chronicle was tipped off. They say your wife was there with some man."

A look of incredulity spread over John's face. Imagine Eileen at a roadhouse. He smiled at the thought. Imagine her there with another man. His Eileen—impossible! He laughed aloud at the thought.

"Nonsense, perfect nonsense," he scoffed over the phone.

There was a note of apology in Dryden's voice, but years of newspaper work had hardened him.

For a few moments he sat there, staring straight ahead. Then he reached for the receiver, withdrew his hand, reached again and hesitated. Finally he calmly unhooked the receiver and called his home. Moments passed, moments that seemed interminable, and he fell to drumming nervously upon his desk. At last a voice answered. It was that of Mary.

"Ah, Mary, do you suppose you could get Mrs. Mannering to the phone without startling her?"

"Oh, don't you know where she is, sir? Mrs. Mannering is not home. Oh, sir, she has not been home tonight."

Ashen white, John hung up the receiver and sank back into his chair. It was as if he had been struck a blow. But in an instant he straightened up. Eileen, it was impossible. And Dryden's message—the rumor? Ah, but his years with her, his knowledge of her, branded the thing as a lie, a damnable black lie for which some one should pay. But she was not home? A mistake, a circumstance for which there was a proper explanation. She had never—

Again the telephone sounded. Its very shrillness seemed portentous. This time it was an unfamiliar voice, a woman's voice, harsh and strained with feeling. It was Greta.

"Would it interest you to know that your wife is visiting her lover, Jerome Wallace, at his apartment?" she said and was gone.

Dazed, but unbelieving, he replaced the receiver. Then, seemingly lifted to his feet by a wave of passion, he sprang up, and running blindly into a chair, he sent it crashing across the room.

"Eileen," he burst forth in hoarse tones. "God, Eileen!" and pressed his hands to his face, as though so he might shut out some horrid vision. Then suddenly he reached for his hat and made for the door, his face terrible in its intensity.

At Wallace's apartment Eileen waited, her face death-like in its pallor. When the Japanese servant appeared she followed him mechanically but unflinchingly.

Wallace's reception of her was characteristic. Although startled at her coming, his manner was easy, that of a man most agreeably surprised.

"Eileen, this is indeed kind of you."

With her big eyes resting accusingly upon him she went directly to the point.

"That paper—I want that signed paper," she insisted.

"Didn't Jennings give it to you?" "No; he kept putting me off," she cried wildly, and then with a flash of intuition, "as you are doing now."

"I?" He seemed amazed at the suggestion.

"Yes," she insisted hysterically. "I've done my part—I've sold out the man I love. Now I want my reward—your signed promise to free my boy."

"There, there, Eileen," he said gently. "No harm has been done. It is all easily remedied. I have only to write you another."

Little Marquese, I think at last after many misunderstandings and much tribulations, Jack and I have settled down into the affectionate habits of people who have been married more than five years.

He told me last night that if anything should happen to him suddenly—just why he should think anything was going to happen to him I don't know—I must remember that only he know how wonderful I had been to him.

"Leslie," he said, "all my life I have done all the things I ought not to have done and I have left undone those things I should have done. But I sometimes think that I have been lucky enough to have God forget me because notwithstanding my many misdeeds and my lack of good deeds, he has let me have you and our two splendid boys. Leslie, mine has been a vagrant heart, whatever its straying, always there has been a feeling of the permanency of you. You have been to me like the heavens above and yet I have had a feeling that in your staunch loyalty, my respect and admiration was planted like in the solid earth below."

I wonder what made John say that to me, Little Marquese? Whatever it was it was very sweet and I'm thinking that in the future we will have no more jealousies, no more suspicions, no more unhappiness.

LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Letter from John Alden Prescott to Sydney Carleton

I do not think that ever in my life I had such a disappointment as I have now in not being able to come to New York to see you off on your journey.

That damn motion picture is coming up next week and of course you know I'll have to be there.

I wanted to come down for a day or two right now, but, Syd, I have been out of the office for two weeks and we have a very big job on which I must attend to or betray my responsibility, and there are so many things beside to get ready for that diabolical picture. I'm not going to have any more accidents, I'll tell you. I'll only have picked men who have been in the mill for years to do the work and everything will be done over with the utmost care.

Syd, I shall be lost without you. Leslie says she is going to write you and so I will stop, except to say that I for one have tested the greatest of friendships and have come to think that I have been blessed with the knowledge of its worth beyond my deserts. Good-bye, Syd, and good luck to you.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, Miss her fiancé, BRUCE REYNOLDS, to get a job on the Chicago Telegraph. She wants to see life.

BOB JEFFRIES, police reporter, becomes a close friend. He introduces her to JEROME BALL, man about town. The three are at a roadhouse where a prominent man commits suicide. Barbara finds a red scarf belonging to the suicide's unknown woman companion, and later connects it with a red dress belonging to MRS. LYDIA STACY, rich widow.

Bruce enters a real estate firm promoting Vale Acres. Mrs. Stacy becomes interested in him, but when he rejects her advances she refuses to invest in the project and tells ANDREW McDERMOTT, the Telegraph's managing editor, that there is crookedness in the firm.

Soon after this the company goes to smash when Manners, senior partner, flees with the bank deposits.

Barbara's mother, an invalid, dies about this time and Barbara takes an apartment in town, sharing it with McDermott's daughter, Fanny. Fanny is in love with Jerome Ball, and Barbara's effort to cure her of her infatuation leads to a temporary quarrel between the two girls, with Fanny accusing Barbara of wanting Jerome herself.

Meantime, VIOLETTA CRANBY, a factory girl, has married Bruce. Barbara discovers that she has helped Violetta win him through advice in her "lovelorn" column.

Plunging into her work to forget about it all, she is sent to cover a convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs. In a hotel lobby at the convention city she spies Manners, Bruce's absconding partner. She wires McDermott, at once.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII

BARBARA went back to her room to await the answer. She had sent the telegram to McDermott's home.

Nine o'clock, ten o'clock came and went. There was no word. At eleven o'clock Barbara decided that the reply would not come till morning and made ready for bed. As she was brushing her hair there was a knock at the door.

The bellboy handed her a yellow envelope.

"Chicago police chief wiring authority for arrest of Manners. Better get in touch with headquarters, and return with Manners and deputy. Manners' story more important than convention. Keep in touch with me," McDermott.

Barbara sat down on the bed a moment and tried to catch her breath.

A plain clothes man met her in the lobby a little later. "How'd we know which room he's in?" he asked when Barbara had introduced herself.

"I think he's registered as Winthrop Mannerling. It's the only name on the book that even resembles his own. Let's see if the Mannerling person is in his room."

The telephone operator rang a room on the sixth floor. "No answer," she said, turning to Barbara and the detective.

"If we sit behind these pillars and watch, we may see him come in," said Barbara. They found two shaded chairs.

"You're sure you know this guy?" queried the detective. "Can't take any chances on mistaken identity, you know. A suit for false arrest is a nasty thing for a chap in my profession."

"No danger," Barbara assured him.

It was past midnight when the man whom Barbara had seen come through the main entrance of the hotel. He was walking very fast. Barbara and the detective saw him go straight to the clerk.

The clerk handed him a slip of paper and he took it to the cashier. "He's paying his bill," whispered Barbara. "That means he's checking out. Perhaps he's seen me."

They waited without revealing themselves until the man had reached the Manners case.

He went to the files and pulled out an extra "Girl Reporter Captures Missing Realtor," said the banner headline. "Miss Barbara Hawley of the Telegraph Finds Jonathan Manners. On Way Home With Prisoner."

"Now you see why we had to send for you," smiled McDermott. "Made the story twice as big."

Barbara was reading the story. "Miss Hawley's adroitness," "Resourceful young newspaper woman," her and fling her arms about her. "Gosh, it's been so lonely here, Barbara—but what's the matter?"

Barbara walked into the living room. "I've got something to do just now, Fanny. And if I don't do it, I'm going to be blamed for a great injury to someone I used to be very fond of."

The girl backed away, staring. She asked no questions.

Barbara went into her own room. A half hour later she emerged, dressed for outdoors. Fanny looked at her inquiringly, but received no reply. Barbara went out.

"Do you remember a red party dress—and a red scarf?" asked Barbara. She laid a piece of red silk in Lydia's hand and went out.

ceived his change and caught an elevator. They took the next one up.

Manners was just unlocking his door when the detective touched him on the shoulder. The man started painfully and turned about, his eyes falling on Barbara. His shoulders drooped and he stood still.

"Probably don't need to tell you what for," drawled the officer. "You know all about that little affair back in Chicago."

"Yes," said Manners, and then lifting his eyes to Barbara's face: "Damn you!"

She shrank back against the wall. "You can go along, Miss Hawley," said the detective. "We'll run down to headquarters, and I'll let you know the plans about this fellow."

Barbara turned and fled. When she reached her room, she was shaking.

The call from headquarters came half an hour later. "We're taking him back to Chicago tomorrow afternoon. He's waived extradition."

Barbara hung up the receiver. She rushed to the desk in her room, wrote the story of Manners' capture for her paper and hurried down to the telephone office. It was nearly two o'clock when she went to bed.

The trip back to Chicago next morning was very different from the one Barbara had taken two days before. Save for a brief message from McDermott she had had no further word.

The deputy stayed with his prisoner in a stateroom the whole way. Only once did Barbara catch Manners' eye in passing through the car. He glared with hatred.

The station was crowded with curious people when the trio alighted from the train. Barbara looked about her, at the staring men and women on the platform.

She left Manners and his guard and ran for a taxi.

McDermott was waiting for her at the Telegraph office. "Great stuff, Barbara," he said, holding out his hand. "Sorry it happened just in time to spoil the convention for you. But Chicago is wild. We're Barbara leaned against the desk. Byers put a hand on her arm. "Why, Miss Hawley, what's the matter? You aren't going to faint, are you?"

His words trailed off into silence. Barbara wondered what they meant, as she slipped from his grasp to the floor.

When she awoke, the entire staff was gathered around her. "Fine new headline," said somebody. "Girl reporter, feat accomplished, faints on reaching home office."

Barbara sat up. "Don't you dare," she said, in a tremulous voice. Then she began to cry.

Someone ordered a taxicab and put her in it. When she reached home Fanny ran down the steps to meet

Pick of the Talent Announced by Radio Stations Throughout the United States

"Fading" Causes to be Sought by Experts in Radio

"Atmospheric blanketing", a radio annoyance generally classed as a symptom of "fading", was given its own place in the list of wireless ailments and charted for further clinical investigation.

Members of the Northwestern University Department of Physics and engineers of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation, who are jointly conducting an investigation of atmospheric conditions affecting radio reception, have announced the results of preliminary observations which are to be used in the national tests of static and fading on the nights of February 9th, 10th and 11th from 8 to 11 o'clock, Central Standard Time. Chicago this season has presented a number of phenomena which are very interesting as well as contradictory. The Monday night after Christmas was clear and cold—a night of the type which hitherto has been looked upon as ideal for radio reception. But despite a complete absence of dampness and heat, few out of town stations were heard and such signals as were registered showed a serious diminution of volume.

It was the experience of observers at various points in the city that fading, generally associated in the public mind with "bad nights" for radio, was so slight as to be negligible. Station WSB, which reaches Chicago with considerable variation in volume, was almost constant. There was little or no fading in WGY or WBZ, where it had been expected, nor, for that matter, from any of the eastern stations. On the other hand, Omaha, which is well received in Northern Illinois even in summer time, was very erratic.

"Dead" nights are a common affliction throughout the United States, according to reports from observers assigned to make preliminary surveys for the National Static and Fading Tests. The nature of the atmospheric disturbance, or whatever it is that causes radio isolation of certain points has not yet been determined, largely because of lack of sufficient data on these phenomena.

Such dead spots are seldom stationary. They have been reported in Florida, the Middle West and Alaska and save for the fact that they are independent of conditions that cause static, little is known about them.

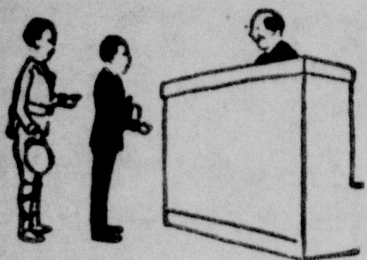

Reports just issued by the United States bureau of standards, analyzing the results of tests conducted by eastern stations tend to show that "super power" in broadcasting stations has only slight effect in overcoming radio reception difficulties, and at the same time increase in the sensitivity of receiving sets cannot remove the blanket which prevents broadcast signals from reaching the listener.

"Blanketing," it's effect and its possible causes, will be tabulated for comparison with other atmospheric disturbances after the national tests.

CHEESE COMPANY TRUCK BURNS UP ON POLO HI-WAY

Caught Fire on Return Trip to Milledgeville Wednesday

Polo—The Kraft Cheese company's truck from Milledgeville burned up on its return trip to Milledgeville Wednesday afternoon about 2:30 at the bridge east of the Doty school corner.

The fire department, was called about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a roof fire at the Bert Wendle residence on North Franklin street. A spark from the chimney burned a small hole in the roof.

Harry Wendle of Dixon is spending several days with his father, L. W. Wendle and other relatives.

Miss Bertha Diehl is visiting in Lanark.

Mrs. O. E. Metzler of Leaf River spent today with her mother Mrs. Maria Klock.

Several of the employees of the Polo Telephone company enjoyed a chicken dinner at Whitwood's cafe Tuesday evening, which was followed by a theater party.

New York—See-sawing up and down Manhattan Isle I passed Klemperer, the giant orchestra leader who is known to Europe as "the volcano of Weikbaden." And full seven feet tall he is, if he is an inch, and he comes to America to conduct the New York Symphony after cutting a wide musical swath in Europe.

Saw Flo Ziegfeld flaunting his new $2000 beaver coat. Saw a cutpurse, sleigh bells and everything, go tinkling down Broadway attracting far more attention than all the million-dollar jazz cars at the automobile show.

The ticket takers at the Metropolitan Opera House are wearing high silk hats this season and most comical they look. Which reminds me, May 15 will be straw hat day.

Saw Joe Cook and Tom Howard, the first of them is one of my pettiest comedians, and they are two of the very funniest men on Broadway. And his rise in the world is due to the love of any small boy for the circus.

In Evansville, Ind., where he spent his childhood Joe rigged up a "museum and circus" in the family barn. He wired the barn with electricity and started the neighborhood with his dexterity as a juggler.

The stable became quite a serious theater—as much as ten pins being required for admission. In spare moments he attracted on the tight rope and soon was going about the country, appearing at carnivals and things. Later he trekked to New York and wound up in vaudeville.

Now Tom Howard was lured to tea by imposing placards of Sir Thomas Lipton. He found himself in a petty job in a Philadelphia tea store. With in two years he had progressed from errand boy to messenger. This didn't amuse him sufficiently so he turned his swift line into a monologue number.

His first broadening experience occurred at Minersville, Pa., where, after appearing for some nights, he learned to his dismay that the audiences had been attending on passes and there was no money in the cash register. He was doing "rough stuff" in an East Side burlesque house when "discovered" for Broadway.

Saw Morris Gest in front of his Moscow Art Musical production and it does seem that his hat grows more shabby as years go by. His is beyond doubt, the most disreputable crusher to be found anywhere in the Broadway belt.
